THE CRITICISM OF CARLISLE

Why the Secretary is Not Popular in New York.

In reference to the New York criticism of Carlisle, the Washington correspondent of the St. Louis Republic says:

For the first time in a great many years the Secretary of the Treasury will not be a guest at the annual banquet of the New York Chamber of Commerce this year. It is no secret that the relations between Mr. Carlisle and the financial magnates of New York are far from pleasant. It has been customary for Secretaries of the Treasury to be mock and responsive to the suggestions and demands of what is generally termed the business element of New York. Under the former administration of President Cleveland, there was no complaint against the Secretary of the Treasury on the part of New York business men. Daniel Manning was a banker himself, and placed himself almost unreservedly in the hands of the money magnates of New York. Mr. Manning's successor, the Hon. Charles S. Fairchild, never thought of doing anything without feeling the pulse of New York first. All the Republican Secretaries of the Treasury since Salmon P. Chase's time have been as obedient to Wall street as if they served that little clique alone instead of the entire people of this whole country.

Mr. Carlisle is different. He is a man of great intellectual attainments, is beloved by many people capable of judging to be the greatest philosopher and constructive statesman this country has produced in half a century. He served long as a member of the House of Representatives, for six years he was Speaker of the House, for three years a Senator of the United States. No man, perhaps, has so thoroughly enjoyed the confidence and the esteem of the American people. Those who differed from him in politics acknowledged his great ability, and those who questioned his judgment admitted that there were reasons and arguments always in Carlisle's position.

He has been seriously considered by his party as a proper candidate for President of the United States; when Cleveland became President, for the second time the people of the country with singular unanimity recognized the wisdom of his choice when he selected Mr. Carlisle for the head of the Treasury Department. As a member of both houses of Congress, the business element of the country, irrespective of section or location, approved his statesmanship, admitted his wisdom and ability, and as far as they could endorse the principles of the Democratic party, they endorsed Mr. Carlisle.

Before he was long in the Treasury Department, however, it became evident that he was not satisfactory to the New York money bags, and before he was six months in the office that Wall street had sentenced him to destruction. The reason is simple. Mr. Carlisle as Secretary of the Treasury has done his own thinking. He sought to make the Eastern people understand that the Treasury Department was merely an arm of the Government and was established for the convenience and benefit of the whole people of the whole country, and not as an agency for the enrichment of a certain class.

Perhaps the correspondence which has taken place between Mr. Carlisle and the financial magnates of the east will be published some day. Then the heroic struggles that Carlisle engaged in in the interests of the people of the country and against the absorption of wealth of the country by a certain class, will be known and understood. Time and again Mr. Carlisle has defied Wall street. Time and again has Wall street hurled at him his threats of excommunication, threatened panics, financial wrecks, destruction, unless the Secretary conformed to its wishes.

Mr. Carlisle is as zealous as Mr. Cleveland or any other American citizen in the belief that the credit of the Government must be maintained; that all our moneys in circulation must be kept at an equal value; that there must not be depreciation of one kind of currency and appreciation of another kind; he is opposed on principle to issuing bonds in time of peace and he also recognizes the necessity of issuing bonds under certain circumstances.

THE NEW SENATE.

The New States to be Admitted Will Cut An Important Figure.

A point that has been overlooked in computing the political complexion of the next Senate is the admission of Utah, with two United States Senators. The act of the last session of Congress admitting Utah providing that in March, 1895, the constitutional convention shall be held. (1) the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November of that year, the constitution is to be submitted to the people, and if ratified and found by the President to be in accordance with the act, he will issue a proclamation admitting it as a State. The act also provides that a Representative to the Fifty-fourth Congress shall be elected at the same time the vote is taken on the Constitution; also that the State officers and a Legislature shall be chosen, and that if the Constitution is ratified the Legislature shall immediately meet and elect two United States Senators. As there is about a month from the time the election is held until the 5th Congress meets, there will be an effort made to have all of the formalities complied with and Utah proclaimed a State in time for its Senators and Representatives to participate in the organization of the next Congress.

This would make in all 90 Senators and as the next Senate now stands, the politics of the Utah Senators would cut an important figure. Another probability which arises is the admission of both New Mexico and Arizona, which may be accomplished in time, so that four Senators would participate in the organization of the next Senate. His have already passed the House for the admission of both these Territories. The Senate Committee on Territories have reported them favorably to the Senate, and they are now on the calendar. Senators of both parties have been urging their passage, and it is more than likely that neither party would oppose them because of the effect it would have upon the elections, as the people are anxious for admission and would resent opposition by any party to that end. It is, therefore, quite likely that the battle for the control of the Senate will yet be fought out in Utah, New Mexico and Arizona next year. The admission of these new States would make a total of ninety four Senators and any party to control would need forty eight for a majority. With the Vice President the Democrats would control the Senate with 47 Senators.

You Should Get It.

Should get what? why the Rev. Irl R. Hicks' splendid Almanac for 1895. He has kindly sent to this office a copy of the same, and we speak advisedly in saying that it is a rare publication—the very latest and best of all that has emanated from the pen, and brain, and heart of this well known friend of the public. The history of this man's work—now an open book to all America—such a casual glance at his Almanac for 1895, convinces us that this valuable and instructive book ought to find its way into every shop, store, office, and home in the land. The price of the book—only 25 cents—could not be our knowledge be coveted for anything more profitably. It contains 84 pages, printed on fine book paper, with elegant covers in colors. It is for sale by all news-dealers. This fine Almanac is given as a premium to every yearly subscriber to the Rev. Irl R. Hicks' well known and deservedly popular Word and Works. This unique journal is a priceless educator of the masses; and is fast becoming a household guardian and necessity in the homes of America. Those who want to keep up with all the advanced thoughts of the age, in science, religion, and all social, commercial, intellectual, and domestic subjects should subscribe for Word and Works. Subscription only $1 a year. You can send for both direct to Word and Works Publishing Co., St. Louis, Mo.

LINCOLN'S BIRTHPLACE.

Will Probably Be Bought and Made Into a Public Park.

[Laroe County Herald.]

A meeting of the citizens was called for Tuesday evening at the court house, and though the attendance was not large, owing to the fact that but a few hours notice had been given of the meeting, all who were present were deeply interested, and of one accord concerning the purpose for which it was called. The object of the meeting was to take the sense of the people of Hodgenville and LaRue county in reference to the proposed purchase of the Lincoln homestead by a gentleman who is represented by Rev. J. W. Bigham, who it will be remembered, conducted a series of meetings at the Methodist church here recently. Mr. I. W. Teyman was made chairman of the meeting and C. C. Howard Secretary. Mr. Teyman made a brief statement of the purposes of the assembly and then Rev. Bigham arose and gave in detail his information in regard to the matter. He stated that he, as agent for some one else, had obtained an option on the Lincoln farm, and wished to know the extent to which the people of the community would assist in promoting the enterprise of converting this farm into a public park. The prospective purchaser of it was deeply earnest in the matter himself, but he desired first that the people of the town and county should be willing to cooperate with him in his efforts, and in this he is right, for no enterprise can be made successful unless the people of the community in which it is located will cooperate in its promotion.

We are strongly of the opinion that this is the best opportunity we have ever had to have the birth place of Abraham Lincoln improved and adorned in the manner which it deserves, and we believe that the proposition is made at the most opportune time to secure the cooperation of our people. Should the gentleman who has secured the option on the farm conclude to buy it, he will take immediate steps to carry out his plans in reference thereto, and he will find that our people will act as faithfully as they resolved to do at the meeting Tuesday evening. The option, we understand, expires on the 25th of this month, and by that time it will be fully known what will be done in reference to the matter. This enterprise is one which concerns every citizen of the county, and by the proper assistance and cooperation it is probable that the Lincoln farm will be made into a beautiful park, which will attract to it hundreds and thousands of visitors, who feel a deep reverence for our war President and admire his greatness and statesmanship. Our citizens should remember these things and act with promptness, thus making the park an assured fact.

THE SABBATH OF THE YEAR

BY G. O. W.

In the autumn, more than at any other time, a thoughtful mind wonders at the opulence of beauty poured upon the earth. We feel humble before it, as if we had not advanced far enough to take it in, save in smallest quantities, as if there were a vast waste and overplus never worked up into spiritual fabric. The time is so transcendent in satisfactions and emotions, both mental and physical, a vague restlessness seizes us, a desire to celebrate the good Mother, Earth, such as must have seized upon the ancients, when they set up their altars to the sky, and the wind, and the sun. We feel that the opulent glory of color, and the peace of the Indian Summer ought not to go by without memorials—white, stucco, commemorative, palms, snow, benedictions offered and the devout prayers of full and happy hearts. We think of nature's gifts of the old time, of light, and harmony and music, and gladly would we bring them back if we could, and fashion our lives to the glow of genial air and sunshine that washes our planet, to the bright forest trees in their rainbow robes, to the crimson sunset, glow that sets the twilight aflame with harmless fire, to the softly rounded and mottled clouds that sail in a pure blue heaven.

Then, the perfect beauty of the world seems a compensation for the disorder, the unkinged and imperfect state of society. We must be worth something if the good God has thought enough of us to make such a scene ting for our lives. Against this screen of shining sky and earth, where the late bird voices sound like carillons, is drawn the dark picture of man's low development, his moral backwardness, his incompetence in creating order on the pattern of this lovely nature. But the perfect beauty of our American autumn seems to bid us enjoy a Sabbath rest for the soul, to put away dark thoughts and brooding care, and to rise from nature's lap into the haven of peace and rest, where there is fruition rather than promise, attainment as the reward of aspiration and struggle; we would come into harmony with the rhythm of the world that pulse through the planets like the electric and dynamic of a beating heart. The impulse of love, and worship, and gratitude for all this beauty is an unformulated prayer. On the one side it merges a sense of the well being, on the other into the raptures of the psalmist and poet. The old Hebrew writers had it in their blood, an ever present joy in the beauty of the world.

What would become of us had we not this great resource, this escape through Nature's door from the diacords and the moral ugliness in which we often seem mired and swallowed up? We must go back to the ancient dawn, to the morning and the evening and the stars, to find that large inclusiveness of plan that reconciles us to life. The sky seizes us with its comfortable bend and protection, the hills girdle us round with compensation, the forest trees, in their stately self-possession, give us comfort; every color and sound is for our blessing; the unyielding soil under foot, the sound of gurgling water, all communicate in subtle ways the blood and brain and heart, all restore and bless. This beauty, which we forget until it is pressed home upon us, and comes often in the light of a new discovery, we may yet find holds the deepest secret of our development, is at the core of the moral as of the physical world. The religion of the old earth such as Thoreau held, though it had its pagan side, still more emphatically had its christian side. Without the christian consciousness, whether actual or potential, nature loses its coherence. It has detached words, but no poem. To feel the eternity of beauty we must feel the eternity of soul; we must read love into it or find it there. The feeling that this earth revelation is a scripture ever writing under our eyes is essential to intimacy with its spirit. This knowledge is not taught in the schools, but holds unconsciously to our deepest convictions. The intimate lover is worlds away from the stranger. Light and darkness, summer and winter, snow and rain, tell him things they never think of revealing to a careless observer. And often the playmate of earth and sky is shy of his intimacy. He knows there are few to understand him. His raptures are not those of the man on change in the counting house or behind the desk. He can not reveal what the robins, and wrens, and squirrels say to him. He has learned their language through love, and there are few who understand the speech of the woods and fields. It is not a new discovery that monkeys talk. Every kind and sort of creature talks, and has modes of communication. If you get acquainted with Nature's freemasonry, you may take thousands of degrees and not exhaust the wonders and surprises. Can we intoxicate ourselves too much with nature's wine—the rich dranght who holds out to us in Autumn's goblet? This wine makes us Bacchanals; it leads ever more and more to perfect sanity; we sometimes awake from the dumb sense of grief and loss with a surprised feeling of newness to hear the birds singing, the sun shining, leaves fluttering all over the trees, clouds sailing high, all moving on in a glorious and regulated harmony. The strength of the order consoles us.

Is Nature careless of our pain, deaf to our cries? Her order is the best restorative; on it we lean, on it we rest; we sleep on it like a child in its mother's arms; our tranquil breath is in harmony with the ever watchful law. None who realize the strength of order will find Nature cruel and unympathetic.

The deeper we live the more will nature be to us, the more will the Sabbath rest console us and fill the void in our outward lives. We shall appreciate the little touches of nature's friendliness as well as her overflowing bounty. In the town the leaves of the few scattered trees are medicinal for you, the grass blades pricking through the soil are for precious uses, glimpses of sky between housetops carry you away into a new realm. The dear, homely face peeping through cracks and eaves, how it delights and surprises! Do we often remember to thank God for this exhaustless source of inspiration, this fountain ever free and ever full, that helps to elevate our senses and sublimates itself in the vital relations of the soul. Our American springs are brief and cold, our summers fervid; but our autumns have on them the stamp of perfection. No other land can show skies of deeper blue, sunshine more constant and golden, air more gently refreshing. No forests are more glorious in festal array, no tangled meadows richer in superb flora, no shady rambles more balsamic or lovelier in fallen leaves and mossy carpets, where the partridge drums and dew drips from the corn, and flocks of migrating birds rise from the copes. What a sin to be shut in walls! Rather should the town, in returning ways, come to the enchanted country, to enjoy the only perfect invitation our climate gives, when every path is best for the walker, the dreamer, the poet. To such as live in the country the familiar now is dearer than its wont. Ugliness seems to have gone on a journey, and the nymph Beauty has come to serve in her place. How it sinks into our hearts! How affecting are her presence and friendliness. Our old hills are beautified and exalted under the light of this Sabbath of the year.

The well known cow path, the little cove of black haws, where the birds rise in a cloud and dive into the bushes, the old worn fences, the worn roads, the familiar roofs and trees, all are glorified by wave on wave of color; and the vision is no less wonderful and uplifting because often repeated.

THE SECOND DIKE.

Improvement Completed Which Steamboatmen Will Appreciate.

The second large dike in the Ohio river at Caseyville was completed Saturday by the Kirk company, which had the work in charge. The good effects of the last dike are already noticeable, and it is the opinion of Government Engineer M. W. Venable that the large island near the Kentucky shore will eventually be cut away by the force of the current. This, with the new low water channel which has been deepened between the island and the Kentucky side, will remove to a great extent the trouble hitherto experienced low water. The new channel is fully 300 feet wide. The government boat Woodruff is now clearing it of all snags and will blast and remove an immense rock which formerly scared pilots from that route. The packet Alex Perry steamed up the new channel Saturday.—Evansville Courier.

LIFE SAVED BY

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

"Seven years ago, my wife had a severe attack of lung trouble which the physicians pronounced consumption. The cough was extremely distressing, especially at night, and was frequently attended with the spitting of blood. The doctor had no means to help her, and she was sinking rapidly. I had then heard of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and was surprised at the great relief it gave. It soon cured her, and she is now as well as ever. I have not the least doubt that it has saved her life."—H. H. Morris, New York.

ONE YEAR ONE DOLLAR

In a number of town elections in Massachusetts Tuesday the Democrats were winners. Small favors are thickly received in these perilous times.

The Board of Magistrates of Livingston county have appropriated $2,500 to repair the county jail. Evidently the board is not in sympathy with the effort to move the county seat.

As a usual thing an idle boy, after being soundly spanked for any of his shortcomings, works like chained lightning for a little while. The present Congress, however, may be an exception to the rule.

If Mr. Watkinson would stay as near the middle of the Democratic road on the silver question as he does on tariff matters, he would be near the hearts of the entire Kentucky Democracy.

Now if the Democratic House and Senate will tackle the currency with the courage of men in a desperate straits, they may bring order out of chaos. They can not make matters worse, and should show their hands.

The State Treasurer commenced paying claims against it again Saturday. For a few weeks the State has been in the predicament our country is always in, behind, and people who had claims had to wait or discount their claims. The reduction of the tax from 47 1/2 cents to 42 1/2 has caused the deficiency.

In Bell county several teachers were permitted to begin schools without first securing certificates, and Supt. of Public Instruction Thompson has thrown consternation into their ranks by deciding that they can draw no pay. As no examination can be held until June, the schools will go without teachers.

The business men of Denver, Colorado, have asked the governor that the gambling houses be permitted to open up again. Really after all, if we are to judge by this request, the Lord did too much for Colorado, even in providing such a poor governor as Wain. If this paper has ever said any mean things about Wain, it is ready to apologize.

Joe Blackburn would make a stronger race for governor than any other man in the commonwealth. If he could be induced to lay aside the Senatorial toga and go into the gubernatorial race, the fur would fly, not only in the contest for the Democratic nomination, but in the final round up with Bradley, or anybody else who might oppose the Democratic.

It seems that Messrs. Kirk and Lynn have inaugurated a plan peculiarly their own to regulate the school teachers of the county. It is not known whether or not they have taken out letters patent on the scheme, but by the time the law get through with them no one will want to see their invention, and the chances are that it will be some years before they are inclined to rub the rust off of their brilliant idea.

Kohl took the oath as Governor of Alabama Friday. Col. Oats not only took the oath, but the office also. Kohl's plan is to be as much of a governor as he can, and at the proper time give to Reeves a certificate as United States Senator from Alabama, and will issue similar credentials to the four or five contesting congressional candidates. Governor Oates will sign the certificates of the gentlemen declared elected, and it is the calculation of Kohl that the Republican and Populist in the House will seat his men and thereby recognize him as governor.

A Washington correspondent says: "For ten years Col. Stone, of Kentucky, has been on the Committee on War Claims. The calendar is loaded down with bills reported from that committee, just as it has been during all of the sessions in which Colonel Stone has served."

"I am not a lawyer," he said to play, "but it seems to me that something ought to be done about the claims against the government. I think a law ought to be passed defining the claim, and then every claimant ought to be allowed to bring suit in the United States district court for the district in which the claimant lives. The judgment of the court, if the claim is allowed, should be certified to the Secretary of the Treasury, who should include the amount in his estimate and then Congress should appropriate the money. This is a practical, sensible way of disposing of the claims against the government. It involves no expense, it is honest to every one, and it would do away with any lobby around Congress. As the conditions now exist, it is useless to pay the expenses of the Court of Claims, for its judgments are disregarded, and the committees in Congress which look after these cases might as well be abolished."

Kirk and Lynn, the school teacher regulators, are probably raising boys to supply the courts with business. We have heard of people who wanted to make birds sing when the could, but would, but it is not often in this day and generation, and in this county, that four fathers held school teachers by threats and urged their hopeful sons to whip them. Set it down to the credit of the boys, that they did not want to do the work.

Resolutions of Respect.
At a meeting of the resident ministers of Marion, Dec. 5, 1894, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, It has pleased the great and good Shepherd to call from his labors here one of the under shepherds, Bro. J. V. Guthrie. Therefore resolved—

1. That while we bow in submission to the will of Him who doeth all things well, we lament the loss of an earnest, consecrated and efficient co-laborer in the Master's vineyard.
2. In the death of Bro. Guthrie, not only the particular branch of the church which he represented, but the church at large in this community has suffered a great loss.

3. That we extend our hearty sympathies to his wife so sorely bereaved, to the many friends who lament his loss, and to the flock now left without the tender care of an affectionate shepherd.

Louisville Tobacco Market.
(Furnished by Glover & Durrett, Louisville Tobacco Warehouse.)

Sales on our market for the week just closed amount to 1173 bbls with receipts for the same period of 451 bbls. Sales on our market since Jan 1st amount to 149,285 bbls. Sales of the crop of 1893 on our market to this date amount to 147,506 bbls.

The offerings on our market this week embrace 21 bbls of new dark tobacco which sold at very satisfactory prices considering the quality of the tobacco. There is no change to report during the week in values for old dark tobacco, either leaf or lugs. The present favorable banding weather will no doubt be followed by large receipts at an early day.

The following quotations fairly represent our market for dark tobacco, 1893 crop:

Trash	2.60 to 3.25
Common to med. lugs	3.00 to 3.75
Dark rich lugs, ex. qual	3.75 to 5.50
Common leaf	4.25 to 5.50
Medium to good leaf	5.50 to 6.50
Leaf extra length	6.50 to 8.00
Wrappery styles	7.50 to 10.00

LEVIAS.

I do not know that would say and prove it, that our town is fairly "in the pink," but it is surely "on the go." In fact go and going, went and gone, has not only been the order of the day but of days. But I suppose there is consolation in the fact of having room to spread ourselves. If we desire a spread.

The drummers have been pretty thick in our village the past week, but "one lal" is by far the thickest.

Crops being gathered and housed, the farmer known about where he stands as to winter provender by this time. And we are glad to note that the farmers, as a general thing, in our neighborhood, have enough to "make it through," and some are "dressed with some to spare." And it does not seem quite so bad after all, since the copious showers.

David Wolford's family, of Sheridan, was visiting relatives in this neighborhood last week. Having sold his farm on Deer Creek Dave is now on the seek.

Our school is progressing nicely under the guidance of Miss Annie Clark, who though small of stature, like many other great and good people, she is large at heart, noble in purpose, and an honor to the profession.

Could death have a sharper sting?

"It is a pleasure to sell Chamberlain's cough remedy," says Stickey Dentler, druggist, Salem, Ohio. "Because a customer, after he once uses it, is almost certain to call for it when again in need of such medicine. We sell more of it than of any other cough medicine we handle, and it always gives satisfaction." For coughs, cold and croup it is without an equal. For sale by Moore & Orme.

SHADY GROVE.

Nothing strange or comical to record this week. Most of the corn has been gathered, and a good many are feasting on spare ribs and sausage.

The late rain has ended the worst water famine this section has experienced within the memory of the oldest citizen.

Our people are doing some much needed and very commendable work on the cemetery—clearing off the rubbish and having a wire fence put around it. Mr. John C. Brown, with a new patent, builds the wire part. It will be a beautiful resting place for the "sleeping dead."

Our physicians, Drs. Todd and McConnell, have an unusual amount of practice just now.

H. A. Hodge, drummer man, was here Tuesday with a whole lot of "foot wear." That is consistent in Henry; he was always a friend to the "barefooted young man."

The near approach of the justice's courts has made some breeze in the legal line. But when "neighbors meet each other on the way" and a compromise is effected, then the courts and "legal rights" are discomfited. So note it.

Jerry Daugherty is commander of the mail and freight train from Marion and all intermediate points, to this place.

Mr. Jim Boon, of the firm of Dollar, Woodall & Co., says that tobacco is low, but he will give the top price.

Lately, the writer in company with C. H. McConnell, went to the house of Esq. Geo. F. Williams on legal business, and when that was dispatched we were cordially invited to the parlor, where the "Spire" with his violin and his daughter on the organ discoursed some of the most stirring music we had had the pleasure of listening to for many a day. The home seemed all that home could be "without a mother."

GREENS CHAPEL.

We have nothing to rejoice over, more than the refreshing showers, which have lightened the prospect of the wearier farmers.

The corn crops in this locality are short.

The hard times have not altogether stopped the farmers from improving. L. B. Cain is having a large stock barn built; B. H. Cowell and son are the boss carpenters. R. N. Gray is also having some rebuilding done.

Our school is progressing nicely under the guidance of Miss Maggie Cain.

Mr. Smith Newcomb was in our midst Sunday.

We are proud to know that our mail route from Weston to Repton has again been renewed.

Charlie Wilson has returned home from a visit to Monroe county where he has been attending to some business.

H. L. Coler and W. S. Hickin are now engaged in the stock business.

J. T. Lamb is having a new house built.

Robert Sullivan has moved to his farm near John Nunn's.

John White who has been confined to his bed for several months is able to be up again.

Chums.

Any one who has children will rejoice with L. B. Mumford, of Plainfield, N. J. His little boy, five years of age, was sick with croup. For two days and nights he tried various remedies recommended by his friends and neighbors. He says: "I thought sure I would lose him. I had seen Chamberlain's Cough Remedy advertised and thought I would try it as a last hope, and am happy to say that after two doses he slept until morning. I gave it to him the next day and a cure was effected. I keep this remedy in the house now, and as soon as any of my children show signs of croup I give it them and that is the last of it." 25 and 50 cent bottles for same by Moore & Orme.

DYCUSBURG.

Rev. H. B. Fox is conducting a very successful revival at the Baptist church. He is doing some excellent preaching and all are being benefited. Dr. E. E. Newcomb, formerly of Frances, is now permanently located here.

S. H. Cassidy, Marion Simmons and Mary Alice Pickering have been very sick but all are some better.

Work has begun on the new Baptist church, and we hope to soon have a new church.

Miss Marion Richards is at home on a visit.

Miss Maggie Moore is visiting friends in town.

S. H. Cassidy & Co., are having an addition built to their tobacco factory here.

Miss Laura ... is visiting her sister Mrs. D. ... at Ebblyville.

Mrs. W. P. ... returned home Sunday from her ... where she went to attend the ... of her youngest child, during its ...

A little child of Charley Flannery was badly hurt Sunday by being thrown from a buggy.

DEMPSEY.

There were "showers of blessings," in this vicinity Friday and Saturday. The farmers are cheered up considerably and they think "the way is growing brighter."

Mrs. Eliza Lucas, of Weston, visited Mr. Eli Nunn's family last week.

Miss Maggie Cain returned home to spend Thanksgiving.

There were a few mistakes in printing the programme in the last week's Press. I would like to correct: "Give your plan of conducting a physiology, and not a philosophy lesson, by E. J. Travis." The names are A. A. Casper, W. A. Blackburn, C. B. Hina, and Miss Cleo Nunn.

School is progressing nicely.

Miss Nina Wheeler has not visited us yet, but we are still looking for her.

Mrs. H. L. Sullivan and son, Wirt Spurrier, spent several days last week visiting Albert Lucas and family.

Miss Eva Nunn spent Thanksgiving with Miss Alice Black, near Sturgis.

Willie Martin is conducting a singing class at Belle Mines.

Misses Julia Truitt, Ella Sullivan, George Truitt and their correspondent spent Thanksgiving night at John N. Truitt's, where we were highly entertained. It will be a long time to be remembered by us, for the pleasant hospitality shown us by the family.

W. J. Nunn visited in the Repton neighborhood Saturday and Sunday. Ham Sullivan attended the meeting at Marion two days last week.

FREDONIA.

The sheriff, M. J. Groom, and constable W. F. Akridge, collected about all the surplus money here last week, for taxes, except what some expect to deposit in the new bank, where the sheriff nor any one else will get it.

Another new residence going up in Kelsey; the owners of lots in this town hate to see any one else living on land they ever owned, and hold to what they have with a death grip, instead of putting up some nice houses for rent or selling lots to those who would build.

Dr. Mott is having a tenant house built on his farm.

The rain last Saturday was fine on wheat, rye and ground to be plowed.

Joseph O. Young, of Princeton, was visiting Profs. Ryalty and Jordan last Saturday and Sunday.

The Emilevor services are well attended Thursday morning.

On Thursday morning there were some talks made on the subject of education at the Seminary, and several nice songs by the pupils; a large crowd was in attendance, which no doubt encouraged the teachers and perhaps the pupils, but book learning is a very small part of education in the true sense.

There were services at the Baptist church last Thursday. Mrs. Leeper beheld a turkey and invited several of her neighbors to help devour it last Thursday; several attended and enjoyed the day.

A large crowd of ... and Crittenden were shopping in Kelsey Saturday.

Misses Helen Boyd and Nannie Clement, school marms of Dycusburg were visiting relatives in town last Saturday.

W. C. Rice said last Saturday that tobacco would be about $8 per 1000 this winter; if it was to sell at that it would be better for the country, as farmers would raise something which would be of greater benefit to the human family.

Drummers were awfully numerous here last week and very talkative.

Tom Lowery and family, of Salem were visiting relatives in and around town several days last week.

We had a nice home raised watermelon last Friday, and have eaten several since. I think they can be kept as well as other fruits and vegetables. I have known them kept until Christmas and just as good as the day they were pulled. Several in town have tomatoes in a good state of preservation yet on the vines that were stored in cellars before a killing frost. I expect to put up melons in future for winter use.

Bugg & Loyd have an immense stock of overcoats and rubbers which they are selling at very low prices; the mud and snow is likely to last until spring and you will save money to buy of them at once.

Bugg & Loyd have a big lot of the best jeans pants ever manufactured, and they are selling them at prices that anybody who wears them can afford to buy them.

A few new overcoats for men and boys at 35 per cent. off at Sam Howerton's.

Some nice pieces of new dress goods at Sam Howerton.

Ladies hats to close. Sam Howerton.

Howerton will have nice new goods for holiday wear.

Don't fail to see our own brand of ladies fine shoes at $1.50 per pair, made with white oak soles and McNeely kid.

Sam Howerton.

Don't forget about some good news paper or magazine for your wife and children to read. W. C. Glenn, Edina, can save you money on any way you want.

Misses Minnie and Nannie Hall, of Crittenden, were visiting R. A. Jacobs and family Sunday evening.

Bugg & Loyd have a fine assortment of Dress goods and as Christmas is near at hand, every woman can buy a nice dress for her wife or daughter at a price that will tickle him, and would be a suitable present for the occasion. Call on them and see their goods before buying elsewhere.

Bugg & Loyd have a complete assortment of boots, shoes, hats, caps, and general merchandise that they are selling at very low prices, considering the quality of goods. K. P. Supper.

Blackwell Lodge Knights of Pythias gave its annual Thanksgiving banquet Thursday night. The beautiful hall room, owned by the lodge, was the scene of the festivities. Seventy covers were spread, and the gallant Knights, with their mothers, sisters, wives and sweethearts, spent two hours around the tables, enjoying the edibles and speeches.

J. W. Blue, Jr., delivered a short address, extending the hospitalities of the occasion to the fair guests. The following were the toasts responded to:

"Benefits of the Order," A. C. Moore.
"Pythian Goat," R. C. Walker.
"Friendship," Rev. W. H. Miley.
"Woman," H. A. Haynes.
It was a pleasant affair.

Gully, But Gone.

Friday George White and his pal, the river tramp, charged with larceny, were before Judge Moore, for trial. It appeared from the evidence that a hog had been stolen and that it got aboard White's shanty boat; the warrant charged the accused with stealing Nick Bridges' hog, but no witness was in court to show whose property was stolen, and the court had to discharge the tramp, notwithstanding it appeared they were guilty.

Nick Bridges, of Carville, was summoned as a witness, but he failed to appear. It was stated that Nick had compromised with the tramps, they paying him three dollars for the hog. Judge Moore issued an attachment for Bridges, and he will be placed under a one hundred dollar bond to answer the charge of contempt of court.

Judge J. P. Pierce's trip to Missouri last week was to see William Goode, the famous poor house keeper, lately of this county. Goode went off in a hurry and forgot to settle certain debts that were and are still hanging over him. Judge Pierce got to see him, but Goode was still in a hurry, and when he recognized Pierce more on so hurriedly that he could not be remembered with a couple of wagons and a yoke of oxen. The Judge accepted these as hostages and returned home.

SHAMEFUL OUTRAGE.

A Young School Teacher Made to Stand and Take a Whipping.

A Piece of Ruffianism Which Should Be Severely Punished.

One of the most outrageous attacks on decency, law and order, civilization, society and the good name of the county was perpetrated at what is known as the "Colon" public school house, about ten miles northwest of Marion, last Friday morning.

Three men, citizens of that school district, and one of them a trustee of the school, appeared at the school house door—one named with a club, and with oaths called the young teacher to the door, gave him his choice of taking a chastigation with a switch or withe, in the presence of his school, or leaving his school and the neighborhood and never to be seen in that section again. There and then the eighteen year old boy, surrounded by these three men, and in the presence of a score of children, was compelled to stand while two school boys were forced by their fathers to ply the lash to him. The names of the men who did this thing are—

JAMES KIRK,
JOHN LYNN,
DINK LYNN.

To say that the friends of the young teacher are indignant beyond measure poorly expresses the feelings in more than one community in the county, the people over the entire county, wherever the crime has been told, feel outraged and are incensed. Nothing that has ever occurred in the county has been so universally condemned.

The particulars of the affair are in substance as follows:

Two weeks ago Monday morning young Collin Pierce, eighteen years old, son of ex-County Judge James P. Pierce, took charge of the school referred to as teacher in the place of the regular teacher, Miss Elrah Crider, who was too ill to continue her work. There were some rather der went down to resume her work. Pierce came home Sunday evening, and then for the first time his friends learned of the affair.

There is not a better boy in Crittenden county than Collin Pierce. He is one of the most religious boys in the country; he claims sanctification and his conduct for a few years past is absolutely above reproach in every particular. He says he accepted the course he did because the spirit led him that way, that had he chosen to leave the school and come home, the men might have overtaken and killed him in the woods. His blameless character, gentle disposition, and his simple, trusting faith in God, make the conduct of the men more heinous. Warrants were issued Monday charging old man Lynn and his two sons, Jim Kirk and his two sons, with unlawfully conspiring and banding together, going forth armed, and alarming and intimidating and forcing young Pierce to a beating with hickories. Sheriff Franks and Marshal Loyd spent Monday and Tuesday in that section and succeeded in putting all the parties under bond, but Dick Lynn. The examining trial will be before Judge Moore next Saturday.

rule boys in the school, and on Thursday last, after repeated admonitions, young Pierce used the rod on sons of John Lynn and James Kirk, because they failed and refused to act as becomes school boys.

The school went home and told it, and on the following morning old man Lynn and his grown son Dink Lynn, and John Kirk appeared at the school house and Dink Lynn went to the door, and with a club in his hand and oaths in his mouth demanded that Pierce come out. Pierce went to the door and the proposition above stated was put before him. One of the men had a hickory club, another a hickory withe, of the dimensions used in driving oxen, and the third had a pretty large switch. After much parleying the boy agreed to take the whipping, but asked that he be done with the same switch that he used upon the boys. The men objected; finally it was agreed that the switch in possession of one of the men be cut to correspond in length with the one the teacher had used. The man wanted to cut off the little end and use the big one; this point was compromised by cutting off an equal amount from each end, and then the weapon was given to Lynn's boy, but he declined to use it until his father urged him on. The licks were then laid on. Kirk's boy had not come to school that morning, and after Lynn had got his brutal revenge the teacher went into the house and held prayers, his usual mode of opening school; old man Lynn going in at the teacher's invitation. In a short time Kirk returned with his boy and the whipping was repeated. Kirk's boy also hesitated to apply the lash until his father told him he must.

After the disgraceful thing was over with Lynn proposed to young Pierce to bury the hatchet, saying he had had his revenge and was satisfied.

Pierce taught school as usual that day, and remained at his boarding house until Sunday, when Miss Crider went down to resume her work.

CAUGHT AT LAST.

J. W. Allen, the Webster Rapist, Behind the Bars.

AT MORGANFIELD FOR SAFE KEEPING.

Morganfield, Ky., Dec. 3.—J. C. Allen, the man who so brutally outraged Mrs. Hicks, near Nebo, last week, and afterwards tried to murder her, has at last been caught and was tonight brought to this place by the sheriff of Webster county for safe keeping. So strong were the apprehensions of the officers that an attempt would be made to lynch the prisoner, that several heavily armed deputies accompanied them and are guarding the prisoner at the jail. It is stated that a mob has already organized to hang Allen, and it is confidently predicted that he will never live to see the light of another day. Feeling in Webster county, where the crime was committed, is very high, and there is no disposition in these parts to shield the perpetrator of so heinous a crime.

The New Preacher.

Bishop Duncan has appointed Rev. Jm. D. Fraser to be pastor of the churches of the Marion circuit; he fills the place made vacant by the death of Rev. Guthrie.

Administrator's Notice.

I will on Monday Dec. 10, 1894, at the Methodist Parsonage in Marion, Ky., sell as the personal property of the late J. V. Guthrie, to the highest and best bidder, on a credit of 12 months, a buggy and harness, a saddle and a lot of books; also at the same time and place I will sell for the widow of the deceased, on same terms, a splendid saddle and harness mare, a fine milk cow and a heifer.

Note with approved security, bearing 8 per cent interest, will be required before property is moved.

Sale will begin at 10 o'clock A. M.

The smallest "cat boat" is large enough to show that the blood need purifying—a warning which, is unheeded, may result, not in more evils but in something very much worse. Avert the danger in time by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Cured others will cure you.

When Italy was sold, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria. When she became a Girl, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Intelligence is the demon of the age. Mine bores me horribly. I am always trying to find a remedy for it. I have experimented with absinthe; I have read the collected works of Walter Besant; they are said to sap the mental powers; they do not sap mine; what am I to do? I so long for the lethargy, the sweet peace of stupidity I'll only wear a Lew Morris, how happy I might be.
